COLLAPSED.

Two Buildings at Wheeling Fall Without Warning.

Burying About a Dozen Men Within the Ruins.

A Large Force of Men Put to Work at Once to Rescue the Unfortunates, But Their Efforts Were Unsuccessful.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 9.—At 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning one of the most fearful disasters in the history of Wheeling occurred. Two of the handsomest buildings in the city fell, with scarcely a moment's warning, burying about a dozen men within the ruins.

The structures were each five stories high and were occupied by T. T. Hutchison & Co., wholesale dealers in leather and hardware, and W. H. Chapman & Co., dealers in painters' and builders' supplies. The Chapman building was commenced last fall and was just nearing completion when the accident occurred. The two buildings are adjoining, the Hutchison building being on the corner of Alley 9 and Main street.

At the hour mentioned the employees heard an ominous cracking, the big structure gave a convulsive tremor and, with a crash, the south wall fell, tearing down the flooring and structural work. At the same time U. W. Clifton, a carpenter at work in Chapman's, noticed the sand falling out of the wall separating the two buildings. He immediately gave the alarm and started for the door. Before he had reached it bricks and mortar were falling down in showers, and just as he got outside the crash came. William H. Chapman, Walter Chapman and Newton Wilson, the proprietors, also escaped without injury other than being bruised by the falling bricks.

The ruins caught fire and before the department arrived were giving rise to a dense, blinding smoke. The work of rescuing very difficult. At noon the following men had been taken out dead or were known to be lost:

Father F. H. Park, vicar general, W. S. Priehard, merchant, Buckhannon, W. Va.; Eugene Burke, an employee of Hutchison & Co.; Robert Winchester, employee of Hutchison & Co.; Harry Cowi, Western union messenger.

The last four named have not yet been found, but it is hardly possible they are alive, as they are supposed to be in the rear portion of the ruins, which is burning so fiercely that rescue work is impossible. Wm. Crabbe, the cabman, and Cowi were caught in the alley.

The injured—T. T. Hutchison, senior member of Hutchison & Co., one rib broken and internal injuries; will probably recover.

O. E. Williams, carpenter, severe cuts on head; not serious.

G. W. Clifton, carpenter, severe cuts on head; not serious.

M. J. Ford, salesman for Hutchison, hip broken.

Chas. Haller, bookkeeper, and H. H. Hump, escaped unhurt.

The cause of the accident was the alleged defective construction of the Hutchison building, which was weakened a year or so ago by the addition of two stories. The loss will be at least $100,000, with the buildings and stock are total loss. The seriousness of the situation was added to by natural gas setting fire to the ruins and the blaze spreading to S. M. Rice & Co.'s building across the alley.

At 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the firemen were just about holding their own with the flames. The work of tearing away the debris was proceeding rapidly Tuesday, but only one body has been taken out, that of Fritchard, of Buckhannon. It is now positively known that the bodies of Winchester, Horan Cowi, Birch and Father Park were shot and killed by the falling wall, and that they were not killed by the crash, they have surely been suffocated or burned to death. William Crabbe, the cabman, reported missing Tuesday morning, turned up Tuesday afternoon. He had been driving outside the city, and not returning by the required time, was given up for lost. It is said that a cab and its driver was caught in the alley, but it is not known who it is. Father Park was the oldest Catholic priest in this diocese.

Watson, democrat and speaker of the senate, will succeed him as governor.

INCOME TAX LAW.

Tax on Rents From Real Estate Unconstitutional—Tax on Income From State, County or Municipal Bonds a Violation of the Constitution.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The anxiously awaited decision of the United States supreme court in the income tax was rendered Monday by Chief Justice Fuller. The court knocked out the law so far as it taxed incomes derived from rents, and also from state, county and municipal bonds. By a vote of the court the law was sustained in other respects.

The court's conclusions, after reviewing the historical and other phases of the question, were as follows:

In Charles Pollock vs. the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., et al., it is established:

1. That by the constitution federal taxation is divided into two great classes: Direct taxes and duties, imposts and excises.

2. The imposition of direct taxes is governed by the rule of apportionment among the several states, according to numbers, and the imposition of duties, imposts and excises by the rule of uniformity throughout the United States.

3. That the principle that taxation and representation go together was intended to be and was preserved in the constitution by the establishment of the rule of apportionment among the several states, so that such apportionment should be according to numbers in each state.

4. That the states surrendered their power to levy imposts and to regulate commerce to the general government and gave it the power to levy direct taxes in reliance on the protection afforded by the rules prescribed, and that the compromises of the constitution can not be disturbed by legislative action.

5. That these conclusions result from the text of the constitution and are supported by the historical evidence furnished by the circumstances surrounding the framing and adoption of that instrument and the views of those who framed and adopted it.

6. That the understanding and expectation at the time of the adoption of the constitution was that direct taxes would not be levied upon the general government, except under the pressure of extraordinary exigency, and such has been the practice down to August 15, 1894. If the power to do so is to be exercised as an ordinary and usual means of supply, that fact furnishes an additional reason for circumspection in disposing of the present case.

7. That taxes on real estate belonging to the class of direct taxes and that the taxes on the interest or income of real estate, which is the incident of its ownership, belong to the same class.

8. That by no previous decision of this court has this question been adjudicated to the contrary of the conclusions now announced.

9. That so much of the act of August 15, 1894, as attempts to impose a tax upon the rent or income of real estate without apportionment is invalid.

Justice Field said a dissenting opinion. He said: "I am of the opinion that the whole law of 1894 is null and void. He was followed by Justice White in a second and dissenting opinion. Justice Field laid stress upon the fact that the law does not exempt judges of United States courts from the payment of the tax. It was not right, he said, that the supreme court should remain silent and make no protest when many United States judges drawing small salaries would be affected because of the law, and he called attention to the letter once written by Chief Justice Chase to the treasury officials protesting against the deduction of an income tax from the salaries of United States judges.

THE CUBAN WAR.

Plot to Blow Up the Magazines in Havana Harbor—Attack on Moro Castle and Canabanas.

Key West, Fla., April 9.—Passengers on the steamer Mascotte, which arrived from Havana last night, say that the assault upon the canabanas was more serious than at first reported.

Moro Castle was assaulted at the same time, and an attempt was made to blow up the powder magazines in Havana harbor.

The plot appears to have been extensive, several efforts having been made during the last few nights to carry it out.

The assault on the canabanas is believed to have been an attempt to reach Sangally to wreak vengeance upon him.

The rattle of artillery from Moro castle to the canabanas while the engagement lasted was distinctly heard aboard the vessels in the harbor.

No details of the affair can be learned from the authorities.

The press only publishes the bare facts, but the disappearance of several prominent revolutionists from Havana known to have been implicated in the plot tells its own story.

It is said Moro Castle and the canabanas are crowded with political prisoners.

The air is stifling and the cells filthy, and the inmates are suffering every privation.

Quiet at Hawaii.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—The steamer Peru arrived Monday from Yokohama, and Honolulu. The advices she brings from the Hawaiian islands and the Orient contain nothing startling.

Japan's Industrial Exposition.

TOKYO, March 19 (via San Francisco, April 9).—The industrial exposition opened on April 1 and continues for four months. The buildings cover eight acres, the grounds forty, and annexes for private stores fourteen or fifteen. A half million yen have been spent in the work of construction—a small sum, according to American estimates, but distinctly large in Japan, where structures for such purposes are entirely of wood, and the cost of labor is incredibly small. Tourists seeking to pass two or three months pleasantly and profitably can not do better than visit Japan while the exhibition is open.

FINANCIAL.

Expenditures Pared Down to the Lowest Limit of Economy.

The Treasury Now Has a Working Capital of $187,000,000, With $118,000,000 Over and Above the Budget—Treasury All Night Without Income Tax.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—From the last daily statement issued by the treasury department, it appears that the expenditures for the current fiscal year to date of $80,000,000 has exceeded the receipts by $42,200,000, the totals standing, expenditures, $244,302,600; receipts, $245,003,100.

These figures, which embody more than three-fourths of the fiscal year, show that the receipts are running at the rate of $60,000 a day, and the expenditures at the rate of $1,015,000 a day. If the same rate obtains for the balance of the fiscal year, the amount will stand, expenditures, $370,475,000; receipts, $315,725,000. This would leave an excess of expenditures over receipts of $54,750,000.

The expenditures are pared down to the lowest limit of economy consistent with fixed appropriations made by law, and are likely to be increased rather than diminished; and the increases in this fiscal year have arisen from the two following principal sources:

Appropriations by the last congress made immediately available, and the quarterly interest payments on the $165,000,000 of United States bonds, issued within fourteen months to protect and strengthen the treasury gold reserves.

So far this month expenditures on the "civil and miscellaneous account," the account that carries the principal items made immediately available by congress, are $200,000 in excess of the corresponding period last month. It is therefore, to increased receipts that the treasury must turn to bring the treasury receipts and expenditures.

The treasury has now a working capital of $187,000,000, with $118,000,000 still owing from the bond syndicate. Treasury officials, therefore, think that the treasury will not become embarrassed even if no revenue from the income tax is derived, and that it will not be necessary to issue any more bonds before congress will assemble in next December and provide revenue from other sources.

KILLS TWO AT A TIME.

Extremely Bad Negro Takes Two Lives and Wounds Three More.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 8.—Britt Glenn, commonly known as "Kid Charlie," a Negro gambler and desperado, ran amuck here early Sunday morning, and as a result two men are dead and three wounded, one of them probably fatally.

The killed are: Napoleon Stacks, a Negro porter employed in Ricker's saloon, shot in the throat and neck broken; Edward Minor, policeman, through the heart.

The wounded are: Jim Clemens, a Negro, shot in the right thigh; artery thought to be severed, and may die. James Miner, lieutenant of police, shot in the right ankle; wound slight. A Negro bootblack, name unknown, shot in the right thigh; wound slight. He resisted arrest at first, but on learning that the house was surrounded surrendered himself to Sheriff Skinner, and was taken to jail Sunday morning.

Greek National Holiday.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Saturday was a Greek holiday, or the anniversary of the independence of that nation, and it will be appropriately celebrated by natives of that country throughout the lands. In this city the celebration took the form of church services and patriotic meetings. It is an interesting reminiscence that as a result of several meetings held in the city hall in 1827 the sum of $60,000 was raised, in which three vessels were chartered and sent with provisions to the Greeks.

Her husband is out of work and has been unable to obtain the necessities of life, to say nothing of the extra required by one in her enfeebled condition.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 8.—Frank Adkinson was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Lena Zipper last February, and his punishment fixed at life imprisonment. ## HE RETRACTS.

Rev. Dr. L. J. Lansing Comes Out in a Letter, and Apologizes For His Statement About President Cleveland.

Boston, April 9.—Rev. Dr. L. J. Lansing, who gained notoriety on last Thursday by saying at a Methodist conference in Salem that President Cleveland was a drunkard and that he could prove it, is out with a letter retracting his statement and asking pardon for what he said.

This is his letter:

My allusion, made in a temper at address at Salem on Thursday, April 4, to the drinking habits of the president of the United States was based partly on common report and partly on the testimony of eye witnesses. From various and independent sources, which I believed to be wholly reliable, I had been informed that the president had been on different occasions and in the presence of persons in an intoxicated condition. From the circumstantial and detailed character of these statements I supposed there was no doubt as to the facts alleged.

I therefore made this allusion as a matter of common report, basing my confidence on the testimony of persons, and, as I supposed, creditable witnesses. The names of the witnesses, obviously, I can not with propriety reveal, since, sharing their knowledge in common with many others, they might justly shrink from being singled out and called to verify that of which not only they, but others equally with themselves had ocular proof.

I must, therefore, say that if my statement reproducing such testimony is not in harmony with facts I regret having made it. I could have neither desire nor motive for saying anything unkind or uncharitable of the president or of any party whatsoever. This case being one of conflict of testimony between witnesses of equal credibility, I can not decide, and, since I have no personal knowledge apart from the testimony, I withdraw the statement and tender apologetic and sincere regrets to the president of the United States and to the public.

L. J. LANSING.

New York, April 9.—Indignation of the intensest kind has been kindled among democrats in New York and other cities, over the attack made on President Cleveland at the New England Methodist conference by Rev. L. J. Lansing, of Boston.

Many of the leading democrats and republicans who attended the three-day dinner in November, 1893, and his inauguration in March, 1895, denounced the story as a lie, and in set terms expressed their opinion of the American citizen who without the shadow of proof, on simply hearsay statements would malign the character of the president of the United States.

The three dinners referred to were those of the chamber of commerce, given at Delmonico's on November 15, 1893, a dinner at the home of Henry Villard two days later, and that given by the Reform club on December 10, 1893.

Chauncey M. Depew said Sunday night: "There is only one reply that can be made to such a story—it is absurd, and it is so absurd."

At the chamber of commerce dinner I sat near Mr. Cleveland. I saw him from the time that he came in until he went away. I can say that he was absolutely sober and in full command of his faculties. He conducted himself in a way the world at large would expect from the president of the United States."

Oyster Pirates.

NEWPORT, N. J., April 9.—A grand raid on the riparian oyster beds is said to be contemplated by the captain of the practical oyster boats, as arrangements are quietly going on aboard the boats for a concerted move. The fighting riparians have laid in 1,600 rounds of ammunition, and are doing duty night and day on Fort-sea men shoot in squads so that if any of the oyster pirates are hurt or killed it will be impossible to hold any of them individually responsible.

Failed to Start Up.

PRITHVIBH, April 9.—An attempt was made Monday by the railroad coal operators to break the strike of the miners of this district, but up to noon the attempt had proved a dismal failure. The Jumbo and Midway mines of the Robbins Coal Co. were scheduled to resume work Monday morning at the sixty cent rate. Few men applied for work, however, and there was no demonstration on the part of the strikers.

Marine Hospital Surgeons.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The president has appointed the following permanent board of hospital surgeons, to determine the fitness of officers for duty, to examine incapacitated officers in the marine cutter service for retirement: Surgeons George Purviance, H. W. Austin and R. B. Carter. There are about thirty officers before the board for examination.

A Loss of $10,000,000.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The effect of the supreme court decision on the income tax law, so far as the treasury department officials can determine, will be a reduction of about one-half in the revenue originally estimated as obtainable from that source, thus making the annual revenue to be expected about $115,000,000.

Manus Very Ill.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The condition of Deputy Controller Mansur Monday morning was extremely critical. He had a turn for the worse early Monday morning, and the depressing state of the atmosphere lends but slight hope of his surviving much longer.
